Alaska Conservation Foundation alaskaconservation.org (907) 276-1917 grants@alaskaconservation.org	Grants available for conservation efforts include the Alaska Native fund, supporting work related to climate change, energy, holistic wellness, food security and sustainable economies. Projects can employ strategies of art and expression, gathering people together, investing in mentoring, Elder voices and emerging leaders, using communication to connect people and inspire change - and more.
Alaska Humanities Forum akhf.org (907) 272-5313 grants@akhf.org	Through general grants and mini-grants, AHF funds a range of humanities-based projects. Specifically related to cultural heritage, grants can fund projects related to preserving history or promoting cross-cultural awareness.
Alaska State Council on the Arts alaska.cgweb.org (Specific contact information is available at this site based on type of grant.)	Ranges from workshop grants, master artist and apprentice grants in the traditional native arts, career opportunity grants, annual operating support and community arts development. Community collaboration grants also support partnerships that provide student access to high quality arts activities.
Bristol Bay Native Corporation Education Foundation www.bbnc.net bbncef@bbnc.net (907) 278-3602 • (800) 426-3602	BBNCEF offers two types of grants: for cultural heritage projects and for Native place names projects. Projects should include an educational component, are encouraged to include a youth/elder component, and are available only to non-profit groups.
First Alaskans Institute firstalaskans.org (907) 677-1700 info@firstalaskans.org	Since 2007, First Alaskans has awarded Community Investment awards for innovative programs that lead to student success in early childhood development, higher graduation rates, leadership opportunities for youth, and connecting Elders and youth in cultural learning and knowledge transference.
Rasmuson Foundation www.rasmuson.org (907) 297-2700 • (877) 366-2700 rasmusonfdn@rasmuson.org	Local private family foundation is dedicated to promote a better life for Alaskans. It offers many grant programs, from larger funding for non-profits to individual artist awards.

Do you have an idea for a project that will help preserve and celebrate Bristol Bay cultural heritage? These Alaska organizations provide funding for different types of projects and are a great place to start.
